

SAN FRANCISCO'S GENERAL STRIKE CALLED OFF

"BUBS" QUINLAN DAPPER GANGSTER IS ASSASSINATED

IS SHOT DOWN WHILE DINING WITH FRIEND

The Assassin Escapes After Firing One Shot

Chicago, July 19.—(P)—A leisurely gunman who caught him with a friend dining in a south side cafe tonight, fired a bullet into the back of Michael "Bubs" Quinlan, dapper gangster of the prohibition era, and ended his career as a racketeer and gambling resort operator.

"This is for a double crosser," said the slayer, as he thrust a pistol at Quinlan. Making no attempt to injure Thomas McLaughlin, a veteran with Quinlan of the beer business before repeal, the slayer fled. The single bullet pierced the heart of the gambler, and he died enroute to a hospital.

The slaying, first of any of the major underworld characters in many weeks here, was witnessed by a number of diners in the Banzai cafe on Cottage Grove avenue, but most of the customers fled before investigators arrived. McLaughlin, however, waited for police, but they said he was intoxicated and unable to tell a coherent story.

"I never had a look at the guy," he told police. "But it is certain he did not want me. He leaned right over me to shoot Bubs."

Waters and other employees said they could remember only that the man with the pistol was young and well dressed and that he dropped the gun back into a pocket as he went out the door and disappeared.

Quinlan, 35 years of age, was at one time an ally of the powerful Salts-McEldane combination which ruthlessly exterminated all competitors for the south side beer business in the years before the depression and repeal.

Police theorized that possibly some feud of those days might have been responsible for the slaying, but they also were investigating Quinlan's connections with two south side gambling houses for a clue.

Quinlan, one of the public enemies on later lists, was known as a capable worker both with fists and pistol. Last December, he was tried following repeated continuances of his case on a charge of manslaughter growing out of the killing of an elderly man with an automobile. He was acquitted.

The last gang killing of importance in this vicinity occurred early in the spring when Charles "Ice Wagon" Connor, toughy gangster, was taken for a one-way ride.

111 AT HANNIBAL

Hannibal, Mo., July 19.—(P)—An official temperature of 111 degrees here today broke all known records. For thirty consecutive days the thermometer has registered 90 degrees or better.

WEATHER

For Jacksonville and vicinity—The weather man predicts generally fair and warmer weather for today and tomorrow.

The U. S. Cooperative Weather Bureau at the Norbury Sanitarium last night announced that the thermometer hit 108 yesterday afternoon, smashing all heat records for this city. At sunset last night the mercury stood at 90, while the lowest Wednesday night was 73. Barometer readings were: A. M. 30.09; P. M. 29.99.

Illinois—Generally fair and continued warm Friday and probably Saturday with warmer Friday in extreme south portion.

Indiana—Generally fair Friday and probably Saturday; continued warm with warmer Friday in east and south portions.

Wisconsin—Generally fair Friday and Saturday, except possibly some local thunderstorms; warmer Friday in extreme southeast portion.

Missouri—Generally fair and continued warm Friday and probably Saturday.

Iowa—Fair Friday and Saturday, except possibly local thunderstorms Saturday in north portion; continued warm.

Al Smith Makes His Peace With Tammany Hall

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)

New York, July 19.—Al Smith, the "Happy Warrior" of other days, made his peace today at the Tammany wigwam.

The former governor, estranged from Tammany Hall in the turbulent reign of John F. Curry, returned to give his advice and council to the new leader, youthful but cautious James J. Dooling.

This action presaged speedy accomplishments of a new charter for New York City, consolidating the out-moded, overlapping municipal and county governments.

"I had a talk with the new leader," Smith said at his office in the Empire State building. "We discussed the constitutional amendments for a new form of city government. I found his views were very sound. He expressed the desire to be helpful and I think he'll come along in fine shape. He's coming to see me next week for a longer discussion."

OLSON SEIZES NORTH DAKOTA GOVERNORSHIP

State Legislature Assembles For Special Meet

Bismarck, N. D., July 19.—(P)—North Dakota's chaotic political fires burned fiercely today as the state legislature assembled in special session under a cloud of legal doubt as to its right to convene. National guardsmen lined the corridors of the new state house as a precaution against possible violence.

The situation was further complicated by arrival in the city of a truck load of Farmers Holiday association members, avowed supporters of William Langer, removed as governor by supreme court order, giving credence to reports that Langer sympathizers may concentrate here to demonstrate in behalf of the deposed governor.

Called to order by Mrs. Minnie D. Craig, speaker of the house, the lower assembly adopted a resolution that it is convened in its own right. The senate lacked a quorum but members took the position they were legally convened by virtue of the presence of a quorum in the house.

In session, Langer, who remained in seclusion today, was expected to appear before the assemblies, probably tomorrow.

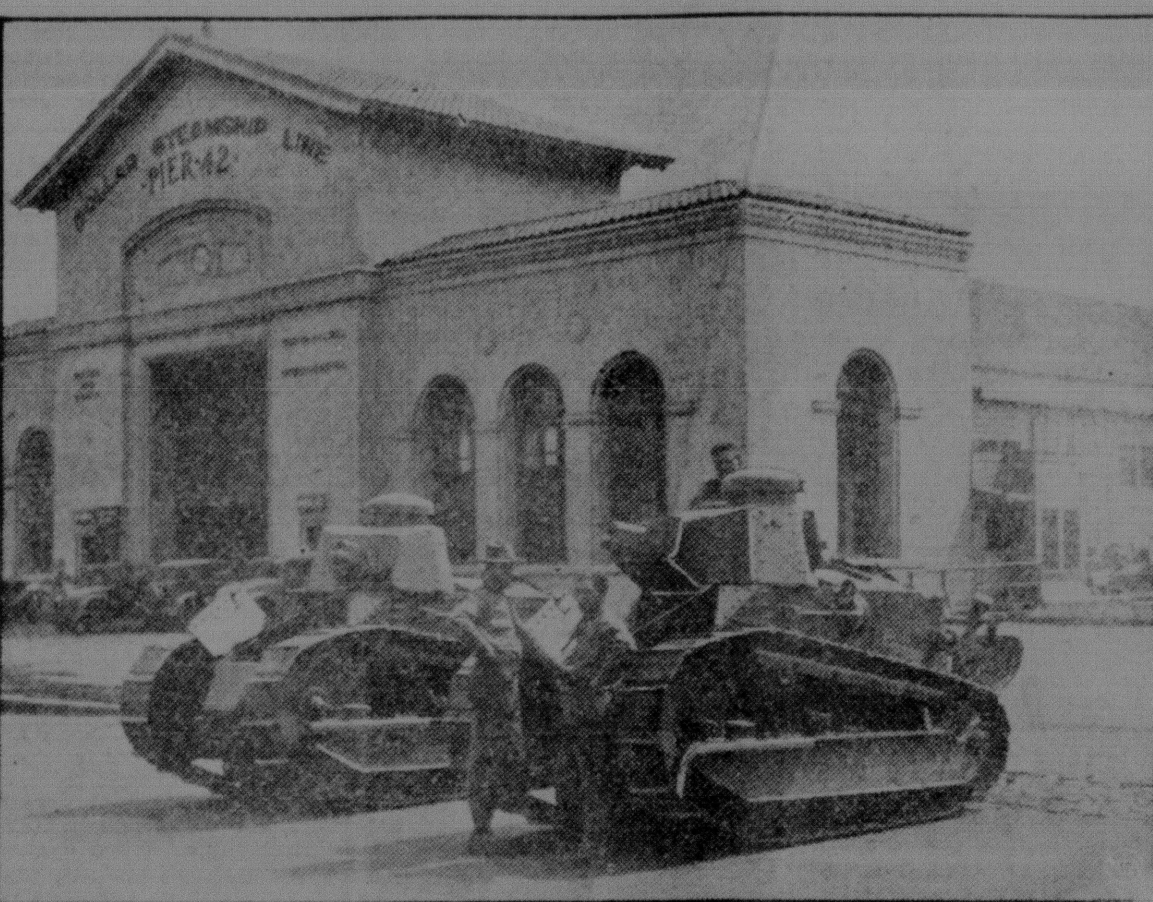

Wholesale impeachment of state officials, and possibly supreme court judges who have held Lieut. Gov. Ole H. Olson is now vested with powers of governor, is understood to be under consideration of the Langer-controlled assemblies.

Two hours after Olson took possession of the governor's office, which Langer had refused to relinquish previously when the court ordered him ousted, members of the legislature began to assemble. Olson's taking over was without incident save for his finding a telegram intended for Langer that in Divide county 1,000 Langer supporters are ready to answer the deposed governor's call.

Early in the day Adjutant General Earle Sarles removed one of the weak

Tanks 'Move in' on Waterfront

A grim note was added to the San Francisco waterfront, already shaken by violent fighting and the tramp of thousands of guardsmen, when tanks rambled into the Embarcadero. Above are two of the blunt-nosed National Guard tanks brought in to be ready in case of trouble.

CASE WORKERS BLAMED FOR RELIEF COST

Investigation Is Adjourned For One Week

Chicago, July 19.—(P)—Hailed earlier by a noisy visit from a group of alleged communists, the state legislature's investigation of unemployment relief was adjourned for the week tonight with its members planning to put more questions to Illinois directors about expenses and personnel.

The boys were revived by their father, Hugh Cain, and Thomas Walsh, janitor of St. Mary's school, who responded to the dog's excited yelps and frenzy, and the inhalator squad of the fire department.

The boys had been washing walls in the school and had lit a gas heater to warm water for a shower-bath. The room was not properly ventilated, however, and the gas light quickly used up so much oxygen that the three boys collapsed.

The dog, apparently unaffected by the gas, dashed to another part of the building and brought help.

Shakopee, Minn., July 19.—(P)—After a 25-mile cross country chase with the nude body of a St. Paul mother in his battered farm truck, Harry Lorenz, former convict, was overtaken near here late today and subdued in a fist fight by sheriff Arthur Meserbrink.

The dead woman was Mary Tschida, 42, mother of a six year-old boy. Her body was found, covered with branches in Lorenz' truck.

After the sheriff overpowered him, Lorenz, a farmer near Rosemont, who had served terms in St. Cloud reformatory, pulled four pills from his pocket and swallowed them, officers said, in an attempt to commit suicide.

He was taken to Scott county jail here and given treatment.

St. Paul police, Dakota county deputies and agents of the state bureau of criminal apprehension participated in the chase after neighbors of Lorenz called officers to report that they saw him drive away in his truck with the body of a woman.

County attorney H. A. Irwin of Shakopee, investigating the bizarre case, said the slaying was committed in Dakota county. Lorenz told him Irwin said that he knew the woman was dead and in his truck but that he didn't remember killing her. He said he had been drinking.

According to Lorenz' story to the county attorney, he was arising at 4 A. M., at his farm home about eight miles from Rosemont when Victor and Helen Novak of St. Paul brought Mrs. Tschida to his place, with the suggestion that they all go fishing.

Lorenz said he could not go because he was busy harvesting. Subsequently, according to his story, he obtained a few bottles of liquor and they started drinking.

Then, Lorenz said, he and Mrs. Tschida went to the home of James Fitzgibbons, about two miles from Lorenz' farm. The next thing he remembered, he said, was that Mrs. Tschida was lying on the floor and Fitzgibbons told him she was dead.

"I then dragged her body out to my truck and put it in the back," Lorenz said, according to the county attorney. "I started to drive. Two of my tires were flat so I couldn't drive very fast. I intended to go to my father's home at Mayer. But here I am now. I don't want to live any more."

The report, which contains comprehensive conclusions, data and opinions secured through a study of aeronautical development in other nations as well as in the United States, and expert testimony from 115 civilian and military aeronautical authorities, will be made public Monday.

The printed report of 75 pages was delivered to acting Secretary of War Woodring today by the government printing office and arrangements made for its general distribution next week.

In addition to opposing the creation of a united air force, the report said the army air corps lacked sufficient fighting planes for its highest possible war-time efficiency, and recommended the immediate construction of more combat and attack planes. The army air corps has between 1,300 and 1,400 serviceable planes.

The Baker committee found the ratio of training, observation, transport and other non-fighting types was so high as to drastically reduce the air corps' fighting efficiency.

"Sport" Mongrel Canine Pays His "Bill In Full"

Champaign, Ill., July 19.—(P)—"Sport," a mongrel dog Hugh Cain, now 12, picked out of a garbage can several years ago, paid up his bill in full today.

"Sport" brought help to his master, his brother, Ray, 15, and Conway Dixon, 12, when they dropped unconscious of carbon monoxide fumes from a gas heater.

The boys were revived by their father, Hugh Cain, and Thomas Walsh, janitor of St. Mary's school, who responded to the dog's excited yelps and frenzy, and the inhalator squad of the fire department.

SHERIFF NABS MAN WITH BODY OF DEAD WOMAN

UNION LABOR STEERING COMMITTEE VOTES FOR MEN TO RETURN TO WORK

NAVY DIRIGIBLE MAKES CONTACT WITH CRUISER

President Roosevelt Congratulates Officers

Aboard Cruiser New Orleans, accompanying President Roosevelt, July 19.—(P)—The navy dirigible Macon made contact with the Cruiser Houston carrying President Roosevelt to Hawaii, 1200 miles off the Pacific coast today. In a series of spectacular maneuvers by the airship and her planes, papers were dropped aboard the warship.

Heralded by two of the planes which the dirigible carries, the Macon appeared out of the mist and arrived over the Houston shortly after noon. The planes guided the mother craft of the skies over the presidential vessel, where papers were dropped after some maneuvering.

Sends Message

As the planes flew back into the body of the Macon, the President sent the following message to the Macon:

"The president compliments you and your planes on your fine performance and excellent navigation. Well done, and thank you for the papers."

The Macon soared away, and within an hour from the time of her arrival had disappeared behind the clouds, heading for her base at Sunnyvale, Calif. The Cruisers Houston and New Orleans, carrying the presidential party, and accompanying newspapermen, continued on their way to Hawaii.

While casting an eye out for the Macon, the president worked on selection of new federal appointees.

He gave particular attention to railroad affairs, looking over names for the new federal mediation board and the railroad retirement board which will administer the new pension act. Early announcement of appointments is probable.

The president watched the progress of strike negotiations on the west coast through special mediators Hugh S. Johnson and Senator Robert F. Wagner.

Meanwhile the Houston pulled off hurriedly from the New Orleans to head into the sea to steady the ship for an emergency appendicitis operation. The patient was reported in satisfactory condition.

At the request of the mother of an unnamed sailor, Mr. Roosevelt received the seaman and congratulated him on his excellent service record.

Members of the presidential party were guests tonight of war room officers who put on a long planned dinner.

The crew of the convoy New Orleans said today that seven mail room employees of the Illinois Emergency Relief organization had been discharged because one or more of them had cashed stolen checks.

Three handwriting experts had disagreed upon the guilt of any individual party so officials, the newspaper said, decided to "clean it out" entirely, releasing all seven.

PLANS ANNOUNCED

Rockford, Ill., July 19.—(P)—Dr. Gordon K. Chalmers, new president of Rockford College, today gave out some plans for augmenting the college faculty at the opening of the fall term.

LEAR B. REED

LEAR B. REED U. S. FEDERAL AGENT INDICTED BY JURY

Charge Grows Out of Fatal Shooting of Woman in St. Louis

St. Louis, July 19.—(P)—Lear B. Reed, agent in charge of the department of justice here, was indicted by a grand jury late today on a manslaughter charge growing out of the fatal shooting of Mrs. Dessie Masterson in a raid led by Reed.

Maximum punishment under the charge is a 10-year prison sentence.

Harry C. Masterson, husband of the slain woman, had told reporters that after the slaying Reed broke into the family flat and struck him over the head with a pistol, knocking him over the body of his wife.

Mrs. Masterson, mother of four children, was killed when the raiders swooped down on the Masterson flat, which they said they thought was occupied by a suspect in the recent murder of a kidnap trial witness.

Subsequent investigation disclosed a man acquainted with the suspect sought by the raiders had moved from the flat three months ago, and that the Masterson family had lived there only three days.

The strike committee had authority only to recommend the course it took. Leaders said the various unions would have to ratify the action by votes. This was considered only a perfunctory matter, however, as many of the locals already had voted to go back to their jobs and others were balloting.

After "advising" all unions on sympathy strikes to resume work at once, the strike committee pledged "every resource, moral and financial, for the continued prosecution for the successful termination of the maritime workers' and longshoremen's strike."

Its resolution referred to the situation as "a crisis threatening the community with disastrous results attendant upon the breaking down of civil government when superseded by martial law."

"The general strike committee," the resolution went on, "has done everything within its power to avert this catastrophe."

Referring to its previous action recommending that both shipping interests and the striking maritime union submit to arbitration by the federal longshoremen's strike board, the strike committee said it thus had proposed "a fair and equitable basis upon which this general strike may be ended at once."

Saying that the longshoremen's board had "indorsed" the original proposal of the strike committee, it then reiterated the employers should submit to arbitration of the marine workers' issues if their differences could not be settled by collective bargaining. It said the marine workers should submit also and call off their strike when both sides had laid their cases before the board.

The strikers' convention then passed a resolution asking the withdrawal of 4,500 National Guardsmen from the strike-bound area and another persuading the general strike committee "until such time as the president of this body shall decide."

General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator and government spokesman in the negotiations here, immediately notified Edward Vandeleur, president of the strike committee, that he would carry out his promise to bring the central issues to arbitration "and I am going to uphold your end to the limit."

Johnson, who yesterday called upon the strike committee to call off the mass walkout as a pre-requisite to federal peace efforts, told Vandeleur:

"My position originally was that I would not take any action until the general strike had been withdrawn or the threat of martial law was dispelled."

"Since that has been done, I will use all of my influence to bring this to immediate arbitration."

"This is the same and sensible American thing to do."

100,000 HAVE STARTED BACK TO THEIR JOBS

Hugh S. Johnson Says He Will Carry Out His Promise

San Francisco, July 19.—(P)—The general strike of San Francisco union labor was called off today.

The labor steering committee which engineered the mass walkout voted 191 to 174 recommending the immediate return to work of all unions that went on strike in sympathy with longshoremen and marine workers.

As soon as word of the committee's action was flashed, the trek back to work assumed almost the proportions of a stampede in the metropolitan area of 1,300,000 persons.

Even before the strike was called off, both union and non-union men had been returning to work.

Industry that had been paralyzed for a time by the mass walkout last Monday of nearly 100,000 workers was reviving against the decreases set up by the strike organization for the emergency conduct of its affairs.

Meanwhile, in Portland, Ore., Gov. Julius L. Meier ordered the mobilization of 1,100 National Guardsmen to "prevent loss of life and bloodshed" in event of disorders when shippers attempt to open the strike-bound port of Portland tomorrow.

A New Governor Moves In

Despite William Langer's defiance to the North Dakota supreme court order that he vacate the office of governor and his attempts to maintain his position through military force and martial law, a new governor moved into his quarters during the most chaotic conditions that have ever faced the state. Ole Olson assumed the office of governor yesterday morning and immediately issued an order to keep the doors locked on the legislators' hall, cancelling the special session called by Langer to consider his case.

Langer's removal was ordered after the supreme court decided that his conviction in a felony charge had disqualified him for further service as governor of the state. He had been given a fair trial and had been found guilty of breaking the trust which his fellowmen had bestowed upon him. Yet Langer insisted that he should be allowed to remain in office and be given a battle with the odds against him.

Olson is a dirt farmer, elevated to his high office upon his strength of character and the belief that he would represent the people in the best possible manner. The state has done a great thing in removing a convicted criminal from the office of governor of a state. It is almost absurd to think of a man, convicted for a misdemeanor, continuing to lead a state government. Had Langer been allowed to remain in office it would have set a dangerous precedent and left a permanent blot on the record of North Dakota.

The Elements Still Rule

Man, through his ingenious mind and creative ability down along the march of many centuries, has overcome many obstacles and difficulties to achieve greater things and reach higher levels in living. He has devised many means and methods of advancement, invented an infinite number of machines and apparatus to aid him in his battles, both in peacetime and in wartime and developed swift means of communication and travel over land, sea, and air.

In general, he has become the master of nearly everything, except one group—the elements. Those he cannot control and they still reign supreme as they always have. In an instant, creations of men may be wrecked and destroyed by the forces of nature, towns may be swept away into swirling waters, and hundreds of lives snuffed out. Man is but a wisp of smoke compared with the power of the elements, but some times it seems he loses sight of the fact that there is a force so much stronger than his.

Dreadful, resulting in general distress and they cannot be overcome by any of man's great creations. Storms descend upon land and sea, wrecking out a mysterious vengeance. The violence and destruction taking years to counteract are left many times by a single touch of the elements when they become avenging. Man remains powerless before their advances and is still their most humble subject.

A Mechanical Diagnostician?

A machine, similar to the radio in construction and operation, has been invented which will diagnose human ills. The inventor of the delicate and sensitive apparatus, Fred Beszeli, claims that the machine can thoroughly examine an individual in normal health in twenty minutes, while it takes an hour or longer to examine a person afflicted by some malady.

The machine works on the principle of vibrations. Each of the 92 elements or substances known to science are claimed by the inventor to have vibrations which send out waves at different frequencies per second. By making these vibrations intensive, they become discernible to the human senses in the form of heat, light, sound and other forms. The inventor says that with his machine he can get a record of the energy radiated by the different organs of the body.

The body is placed in circuit with the apparatus and the operator twists the various dials and notes the recordings. By reference to tables already prepared he can tell at a glance if the particular organ under scrutiny is afflicted or not or what the ailment probably could be. If the examination discloses something wrong with an organ, it is claimed of the apparatus that it can reveal fairly accurately how far the disease has advanced.

Scientists all over the world have invented and perfected machines to measure weight, test and calculate almost everything imaginable. Thus it is not impossible to have such a machine or apparatus to make a satisfactory analysis of an individual's state of health. If the invention is accepted and does what the inventor claims it will do, ailments can be diagnosed quickly and accurately, many times making it possible to stop ravages of diseases in their early stages and be a great boon to medical science in general.

Hitler Is The Fuse

How Cicero, denouncing Cataline's conspiracy to the Roman state, would have revelled in Hitler's oratorical hook-up, with the whole civilized world for an audience! Hitler, though no Cicero, did a good job, everything considered. His case, like Cicero's, may be somewhat "phony," but he probably made the best of it.

His official audience, the German Reichstag, roared approval. What else could it do, when the subject matter was 77 German leaders shot in the back with their faces to the wall, for differing with their Leader? The German public, ignorant of many things, grasping at any straw of belief and hope, added its cheer. It is necessary to cheer in Germany, to keep up courage and avoid execution. For Der Fuehrer is really no Cicero, vigorous only in speech. He is a Caesar—not a mighty and benign Julius, but one of the later, more decadent type, himself fearing death.

To most Americans Hitler seems to be plunging headlong with his people toward destruction. His explanation of the "Terror" satisfy only reckless followers and a despairing public that will grasp at any straw. He preaches a still more intense nationalism. He further alarms and antagonizes neighboring powers. So the foreign ring tightens more and more about the Fatherland.

The German nation may be crushed by external pressure and internal decay. Or it may expand and burst its barriers. It is when tightly confined that dynamite is dangerous. Germany may explode in another war. Hitler is the fuse.

Consumers Paid It

From Quincy Herald-Whig.
Federal taxes," says the official treasury statement regarding revenue taxes for the fiscal year closing June 30, "fell most heavily on five states, New York, North Carolina, Illinois, Pennsylvania and California."

The statement is subject to qualification in one respect. North Carolina's share of internal revenue taxes comprise the enormous contribution her tobacco factories made to the national money-chest. But North Carolina citizens do not pay this tax at all. It is merely collected there. The tax on cigars is passed on to consumer citizens in forty-seven other states. What is collected from the manufacturer is returned to him by the wholesaler and retailer, who in turn gets it from the customer. Actually, North Carolina pays very little internal revenue taxes.

One could find considerable of this internal revenue tax that is "passed on" to the consumer. A whisky drinker would deceive no one but himself if he fancied the distiller had taken care of the tax on his beverage. The distiller has merely advanced it when the spirits comes from the government bonded warehouse. It is passed on to the retailer, who in turn, sees that it is paid. Florida-made whisky may be consumed in Idaho. Actually, the tax is paid in Idaho but it shows up on the collector's books as paid in Illinois.

The point to be borne in mind is that we are not yet independent of each other in the matter of internal revenue taxes. The statement of how collections run by states is perhaps, to that extent, unfortunate.

SO THEY SAY!

I am a candidate because I believe it is my duty to be one.
—U. S. Senator Simeon Fess of Ohio, up for re-election.

ATTORNEY ROBINSON LANDS BLACK BASS WEIGHING 5 LBS.

Attorney Carl E. Robinson has been catching his share of bass this season, but one day this week at Wilcox Lake landed a "whopper" that deserves special mention. It was a black bass that weighed an even five pounds.

Mr. Robinson, in company with his guest, Prof. Kenneth C. Sears of Chicago, was casting in water about 14 inches deep when he got a perfect strike. The fish put up a battle that would delight the eyes and nerves of any angler. Mr. Robinson was using minnows when the big fellow took a notion to bite.

The head has been preserved and will be mounted. Mr. Robinson said this was the largest bass he has landed this year, and the second largest he has caught in his angling career.

The New Deal in Washington

Long-Festering Animosity Lies Behind San Francisco's Strike

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent
Washington, July 19.—There's a man here who worked long and conscientiously to settle the Pacific coast longshoremen's strike.

He came here a while ago to report an agreement—arriving almost simultaneously with telegrams from San Francisco showing the agreement had broken down. He is a good man just the same, and now has another important government job. As the general strike was declared, he commented:

"You can't mediate a revolution." Why the bitterness? He didn't want his name used, but he gave me some background that may interest you, too. He named the three chief causes of the existing situation as:

1. A long history of suppression of labor unions by employers, resulting in bitterness and complete distrust of employers.

2. The calling of troops against the longshoremen, which created such resentment as to make mediation impossible.

3. Insurgency of large rank-an-file groups which howled down conciliatory proposals from conservative A. F. of L. officials and mediators.

Both employers and employees were determined to make a closed shop—open shop finish fight issue. Employers weakened first, but too late.

Mediators found the hardest steamship companies to deal with were those which drew the most money from the government in ocean mail subsidies—the Dollar and Matson lines.

When Force Is Tried

Although Roosevelt was deep-sea fishing as the strike broke, many of his aides here were scared stiff. The whole administration labor policy, which once seemed strong but broke down many months ago and has wobbled and wobbled ever since, was involved.

The possibility of being forced to use federal troops in a labor dispute came to officials already badly worried by the dangerous potentialities of clashes between militia and mobs.

It is pointed out that, aside from the fact no one knows what a large angry mob will do, national guard operations against strikers in large cities are likely to do more harm than good. In smaller communities stern militia measures may avert trouble. But after militia was used in San Francisco a waterfront strike became a general strike. In Minneapolis, where militia-men were called out, an agreement was broken down and the situation is more serious than ever. In Toledo, despite troops, strikers were strong enough to win a satisfactory agreement. Unless results such as Toledo's are achieved, these situations seem to demand more troops and more bloodshed.

Cream for Communists

You'll hear more and more about communists in the next few months, and some of it will be true. A strong federal drive against communist labor agitators is more than a possibility.

Communists are likely to be found wherever labor unrest simmers. Their mission is to make angry workers more militant, to get them accustomed to fighting employers and authorities—and to victory, if possible. They don't preach the world revolution to masses of A. F. of L. workers—yet. They have swung away from recent habits of isolated, ineffective demonstrations to the old policy of boring from within.

No one here gives communists credit for the San Francisco, Minneapolis or Toledo upheavals. But they helped. Federal mediators keep telling employers the only way to keep outside "Reds" from influencing labor troubles is to be more conciliatory with their regular workers.

Of course the term "Red" is often used indiscriminately against sincere labor leaders and honest labor causes. The communists, who like to be considered more important than they are, think that's swell.

(Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

To the Editor of The Journal-Courier:

Beverly Hills, Calif., July 19.—Back from the strike. There is no doubt the "reds" run away with the fair conservative leaders in the union. The thing was not as some try to make you believe. 100 per cent one sided. They had some just kicks. And plenty of fair minded people of San Francisco were in sympathy with 'em. They lost lots of that by calling the general strike. When you interfere with everybody's business, you can't get away with it. Now here is something that you don't read about. But there is a lot of 'em, and for lack of a name, we might call 'em greens.

That is their whole system becomes green when the very idea of a union, or a strike or anything pertaining to the betterment of labor is mentioned. He is the one that tells who should be took out and shot, if he makes any move to better his condition. So we got radicals on both sides. "Reds" on one, and "greens" on the other. Both of 'em ought to be run out.

And leave it to men that know and feel that there is such a thing as a fair union and a fair employer. The whole thing will prove that no general strike can win. People might be with you. But when it begins to costing 'em food, and their inconvenience, they are going to quit you. Sometimes we think we don't know what kind of government we got, but it's always bigger than any group of people.

Yours, WILL.

Historical Papers Available to Clubs

The lending bureau of the National D.A.R. society, of which Mrs. Flora M. Gillentine is the chairman, has sent word to the Rev. James Caldwell chapter, of Jacksonville, that the historical papers, patriotic lectures and lantern slides are ready for use in the chapters and for loaning to clubs which are interested in these subjects. There is a wealth of rich material for use in programs, the result of varied and careful research. The system of classification by subject used in the catalogue facilitates the selection of appropriate subjects.

Mrs. Gillentine, Continental Hall, Washington, will send information upon request. She said in her communication, "These are times peculiarly appropriate for such activities. Our country today needs a new baptism of patriotism. Many have misinterpreted the intent of the New Deal. 'America for Americans' does not mean that the government guarantees every person support in comfortable leisure, or that agencies of government shall become obscured by the agents. By impressing the youth with the sacrifices which the founders of our nation made and with the high ideals which directed their efforts in war and statecraft for the establishment of this government of a free people, we may hope to preserve the true spirit of Americanism."

The most popular papers outside of those dealing with political and economical subjects are: "Old Samplers," "Dolls," "Shawls," "Andirons," "The Evolution of the Quilt" and "Pewter, Old and New." "Old Trails of Maui, Hawaii," this paper took one year of research work. "Old Houses of Kentucky," and "Connecticut."

These papers and lectures are of great historical value, since they are not accepted by the organization unless authentic and all facts are correct. The files can be used by clubs during the coming year with great benefit for the men and women of those times were not patriots who were afraid their efforts might out run the sands of the hour glass. Theirs was the belief that the sun's course was too short for them to accomplish the self-imposed tasks. They realized that no external application, only internal activation, could achieve right living. A study of the lives and pursuits of the early Americans is an inspiration to all schools and societies.

HOLD SERVICES FOR MARY H. RAPSILBER

Services in memory of Mrs. Mary H. Rapsilber, of Mound Heights, were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Gillham Funeral Home, with Rev. E. F. Toon, of Arenzville, in charge. Interment was made in Diamond Grove cemetery.

Music was furnished by Mrs. C. H. Muehlhausen and Alvin Middendorf. O. A. Schutte was at the piano.

The floral tributes were cared for by Mrs. E. O. Klein and Miss Helen Rapsilber.

Casket bearers were Charles Screen, Albert Spreen, Fred Spreen, James Foster, George Cox and Glenn Halliwell.

Miss Catherine Meyers of Concord was shopping here Thursday.

FORMER RESIDENT OF CITY DIES AT VIRDEN

William Evermon Stephens, a former resident of this city died yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock at his home in Virden, where he had resided for the past sixty-two years. The deceased was 69 years of age and death was due to heart trouble and infirmities of old age. He was Virden's last Civil War veteran.

Mr. Stephens was born in Jacksonville on May 21, 1845, and resided here until he was seventeen years of age, when he moved to Springfield and a short time later went to Virden. He served with Company A, One Hundred Sixty-Eighth Illinois Volunteers in the Civil War.

A full military funeral in charge of the American Legion and services will be conducted from the Virden Christian church on Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

Among the Pittsfield shoppers in Jacksonville yesterday was Miss Margaret Schimmell.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION
 Get Relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can usually get rid of common constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoons daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with every meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Miss Amelia DeMotte Entertains at Tea
 Miss Amelia DeMotte entertained at her home, 327 Lockwood Place, at a tea, from three to five o'clock Wednesday afternoon in honor of her sister, Miss T. P. Carter of Poughkeepsie, New York. Mrs. Carter formerly resided in Jacksonville and her many friends enjoyed meeting her during the afternoon. The appointments for this occasion were lovely in every detail and throughout the rooms roses lilies and gladioli were used in large bouquets, making an attractive setting for the guests. Dainty refreshments were served in the dining room and Mrs. George S. Rogerson and Mrs. R. A. Gates assisted the hostess in entertaining.

Sinclair Club Entertains at Meeting on Wednesday
 The members of the Sinclair Women's club were entertained at the home of Mrs. Henry Barnes on Wednesday afternoon. An interesting program was enjoyed, which included a group of vocal numbers beautifully given by Miss Rhoda Olds of Jacksonville, with Miss Mary Tormey as accompanist. Following the musical, Dr. Isabel Stewart, head of the psychology department of MacMurray College, spoke upon "Child Psychology," and at the close of the afternoon dainty refreshments were served.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Lyman Fox and Miss Mary Louise Fox. About thirty guests were present from the Orleans Woman's club, and the meeting was one of the most outstanding on the club calendar.

SMITH FUNERAL TO BE HELD TODAY
 Miss Alice M. Smith, teacher at the School for Blind for many years, passed away at Passavant hospital Wednesday night at nine-thirty o'clock after an illness of several weeks.

Miss Smith was born in St. Louis, Missouri, but in early childhood she with her parents moved to Griggsville, Illinois, where she attended the public school and where she taught school for several years.

She was preceded in death by the immediate members of her family. Several nieces and nephews remain to mourn her death. Two nieces, Mrs. Harry E. Fidler of Detroit, Michigan, and Miss Alice Houser, an instructor in the schools at Knox, Indiana, were at her bedside several days prior to her death.

Miss Smith had been a teacher in the School for the Blind for more than thirty years. She received her early training as a teacher of the blind under the supervision of Dr. Frank H. Hall. She was a very efficient and faithful teacher, and has rendered a splendid service for many afflicted children. The school has sustained a great loss in her death. Her co-workers, and the afflicted children for whom she has labored so long and so faithfully, are saddened by her passing.

Miss Smith was a member of the Congregational church, a splendid Christian woman who was ever eager to aid in every cause for right, devoting her entire life to service.

Funeral services will be held at the Reynolds Chapel Friday morning at ten-thirty o'clock. Interment will be in the Griggsville cemetery. Services will be conducted by Rev. T. Harley Marsh, pastor of the First Baptist church.

ROOSEVELT NEEDS MORE WORKING ROOM; HE'LL GET IT

For the fourth time since 1900, the executive offices of the White House in Washington are being enlarged, while President Roosevelt is on his vacation. Even the additions built by direction of Presidents Theodore Roosevelt, Taft and Hoover have not supplied the necessary working space, so $135,000 more is to be spent. The picture above shows the changes to be made in the general White House layout, with an extension along nearly the entire east side of the office building and a second story added.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep... Vigor... Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or pipes which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount, stinging burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness. If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS... a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes. But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Trust in DOAN'S PILLS... the old reliable relief that contains no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Woodson Boy Badly Injured by Falling From Fender of Car

Badly injured as the result of falling from the running board of an automobile, David Vanderhorst, eldest son of Rev. and Mrs. A. Vanderhorst, of Woodson, is in a critical condition at Passavant hospital.

The youth sustained a serious injury to his head and shoulders, and is believed to be suffering from concussion. His condition Wednesday was reported as slightly improved.

Young Vanderhorst was riding with several boys on a car driven by Orville Owens. He is reported to have been riding on the running board or fender, and losing his footing, fell under the car. The wheels on one side passed over his shoulder.

He was brought to the hospital by his parents, accompanied by Lester Henry and Melvin Smith.

The accident occurred on a road near Woodson. Vanderhorst's companions stopped and gave him all possible assistance before he was brought to the hospital.

SENSATIONAL

ALL-WEATHERS

New Goodyear Tires with 43% more non-skid mileage are greatest tire success in years!

LOOK at the names published here. They're representative of the kind of people who are riding on the wonder tire of 1934—the new "G-3" All-Weather.

You can bank on it—this tire has to be good to win such owners as these.

And it has to be good to be what it is today—the fastest-selling tire in the world!

How about you?

When will you join the rapidly growing list of wise buyers who ride on this spectacular new "G-3"?

You get a broader tread—a flatter tread—a heavier tread (2 pounds more rubber per tire on the average)—you get extra grip in the center of the tread where it counts for safety, because that's the spot where the tire contacts the road. You get patented Goodyear Supertwist in every ply—and that's the only ply material that makes such a husky tread successful.

And it all adds up to more miles of non-skid safety—43% more non-skid mileage according to actual test fleet records.

Surely you can't afford to miss all these extras when you consider that you can have them at no extra cost.

Lutheran Choir In Program Over Air

Chandlerville, July 19.—Members of the Lutheran church ladies chorus assisted the pastor, Rev. Arthur E. Neitzel, Sunday afternoon at the Concordia hour broadcast at station WTAX, Springfield at 5:30 o'clock.

The program given Sunday was as follows:

Prelude—Miss Clara Lovecamp.

"When I Survey the Wondrous Cross"—Girls' chorus.

Address, "Be Not Afraid"—Rev. Arthur E. Neitzel.

"To Thee Oh Dearest Jesus" (Mansell)—Girls' chorus.

Postlude—Miss Clara Lovecamp.

Members of the chorus are: Miss Lula Lovecamp, Miss Clara Lovecamp, Mrs. A. E. Neitzel, the Misses Mary Jeanette and Thelma Vollmers and Miss Alice Marie Greb. Accompanist for the chorus was Miss Helen Eichenauer. Rev. Neitzel's message dealt with facing the current problems of unemployment and disillusion of ideals.

Recreation School

The Recreation school is progressing in organizing games for the younger pupils under Miss Edna Marcy, who has charge of the morning group from 8 to 11 on the school yard playground. Older young people are making up competing baseball teams, playing from 2 to 4 in the afternoon under Evan Garner.

Gravel work on the three mile stretch of the Lincoln Memorial highway running east of Chandlerville to the Menard county line is now at its height. Gravel trains have been arriving daily and trucks loads were being dumped Tuesday night to facilitate day light workers.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ritchie, with Clifford Collins, were motor visitors in Macomb Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ebbe were business callers in Jacksonville Monday.

Miss Agnes Morse of Oklahoma City, Okla., a house guest at the home of Mrs. J. C. Morse.

Rev. and Mrs. M. E. Bacon were guests of Mrs. Ella Sears in Jacksonville last week.

Mrs. Charles Cherry was hostess to the Bridge club at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

Eastern Star members will picnic and swim Thursday at John slough.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything. What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless a pint of it is flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and 4 of our food decays in our 25 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped tomcat, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and sends the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—24c. ©1934, C.M.Co.

ROBERT FOSTER HURT AS CAR HITS DITCH

Robert Foster of this city received injuries to the left hand and ankle Wednesday evening when the car which he was driving ran into a ditch. Foster was driving west on the hard road and pulled out to pass a car. In doing so he saw another car coming toward him and in attempting to pull back to avoid striking the car he was passing, he ran into the ditch.

He was brought to the Passavant hospital here where he received treatment. His condition is not thought to be serious.

Thomas McManus of Hopedale was a business caller in the city yesterday.

Sandy Creek Baptist Women Hold Meet

White Hall, July 19.—The Women's Missionary society of the Sandy Creek Baptist Association met in the Tabernacle Church in White Hall in all-day meeting Wednesday. There are five missionary societies in the association and they were all well represented in the meeting Wednesday. Those churches represented were Murrayville, Richwoods, east of Roodhouse, Patterson, Providence and White Hall.

This was the annual meeting and election of officers was held. Mrs. J. O. Raines, of White Hall, was elected superintendent, and Mrs. Charles Hudson, of White Hall, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Fraley, of Roodhouse, have moved into the Robert Shaw tenant house on West Franklin street. Mr. Fraley was recently appointed manager of the Klump Filling station on North Main street.

Mrs. A. L. Harvey and daughter, Betty, of Chicago, arrived Sunday night to spend the remainder of the summer with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. O. Raines, on East Bridgeport street. Mrs. Harvey was formerly Miss Mae Raines.

Mrs. Ora Brown is critically ill at her home on Carr street. Her brother, Charles Smithers and his daughter, Mrs. Silver Hatcher, of Pearl, arrived Wednesday morning to be at her bedside.

Miss Edith Walton and Mrs. Florence Dunphy drove to Springfield on Saturday to see Miss Walton's sister, Mrs. Frank Short, who is critically ill in St. John's hospital.

Mrs. Jane Rigg has returned after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Mary Hancock and other relatives in Alton. Her niece, Mrs. Opal Schaaf, of Alton, accompanied her home for a short visit.

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car. We like sales, but fair-dealing and the confidence of our customers are desirable too.

For one thing, we refuse to poison any one's mind against another make of car. We know what our car is and what it will do, and we are ready to tell you about that. But to imply defects in another car is not our business.

We have done our utmost to encourage intelligent buying of motor cars by showing purchasers how to protect their own interests. All that a good producer asks is a customer who knows quality when he sees it. An intelligent purchaser will speedily conclude that only a bad product requires bad sales methods.

We refuse to keep dinning in your ears that the Ford V-8 is the best, most economical, lowest priced car. That is claimed for several cars. Obviously it cannot be true of all. There comes a point where claims and adjectives and all advertising hysteria disappears in its own fog. Personally, I prefer facts.

We say the Ford V-8 is the best car we have ever made.

We say that our 8-cylinder car is as economical to operate as any lower number of cylinders.

We say that we have always been known as the makers of good cars and that the many good, well-balanced qualities of our present car place it at the head of our line to date.

Any one wishing to do business with us on these principles will find our word and the quality of our product to be A-1. What we say about economy, operation and durability will stand good anywhere.

A letter from Mr. Henry Ford published by the Associated Ford Dealers of this territory.

Misses Helen Corzine and Ruth McPherson in charge as supervisors. The project calls for the maintaining of the play grounds for the next five weeks.

Children of the county between the ages of five and fourteen years inclusive are eligible to enroll and are requested to report Monday morning at nine o'clock at the play ground of the Jerseyville grade school.

Arrangements have been made for the use of parts of the building of the grade school and the recreational equipment, swings, etc., of the school.

The supervised play period will be every morning except Saturday and Sunday from the hours of nine to twelve o'clock and every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon from one to four o'clock.

Among the subjects of interest to the younger generation to whom the play ground is available will be occupational instruction, folk dancing, track and field work, team games, nature study, etc.

The general plan calls for a series of competitive contests toward the close of the playground project. A general field day will be held for competitive trials in folk dancing, and various other types of athletic endeavor.

In case of inclement weather, arrangements have been made with the board of education of the grade school for the use of necessary rooms in the basement of the building.

Water Supply Adequate

The city of Jerseyville's supply of spring water is still considered adequate for all needs. It was reported by the pumping plant Tuesday that an average supply each day of 155,000 gallons had been pumped since the first of July.

Guard Gets Ready for Minneapolis Strike

Called out by Gov. Floyd Olson as the shadow of a truck drivers' and perhaps a general strike hung low over Minneapolis, this machine gun company of a National Guard regiment assembles two of its guns to be ready for active service if food supplies are threatened.

BARN BURNS ON WHITE HALL FARM

White Hall, July 19.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed a large hay barn on the Edward Giller farm west of White Hall, Monday night, starting about one o'clock. There was a one hundred tons of new alfalfa hay in the barn and the barn was valued at $1,000.

Alfalfa hay at the present time is worth about twelve to fifteen dollars per ton, and it is predicted that later on it will be worth much more, because of the continued dry weather which has cut pastures and hay crops short. Even corn fodder will be less than usual this year because corn has not grown so tall as it should. Mr. Giller carried insurance on his property.

Fire running over a stubble field belonging to Lee Nolan, west of White Hall, Monday night about ten o'clock also caused some consternation by the reflection on the sky. When it and also the Giller barn were burning there was a high wind with a roaring sound, and many persons in the city were alarmed lest a storm was brewing.

There was also a fire east of the city somewhere in the vicinity of Bradshaw Mound which was visible in the city in the early part of the night, but telephone service does not reach far enough in that direction to ascertain what was burning.

ORLEANS CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. CHAS. WOOD

The Orleans Woman's Country Club was very pleasantly entertained on July 17 at the home of Mrs. Charles Wood. The following program of the afternoon was given:

Early American Folk Song—Club Quartette.
Great American Poets and Poems—Mrs. Holmes.
A Short Story—Mrs. Doherty.
Roll Call—An American Poem.
The club adjourned to meet August 7th, with Mrs. Wm. Cleary, the date of this meeting being changed from regular time.

The hostess served delightful refreshments.

Leader in Coast Strike Tieup

Harry Bridges, slight, dark, Australian former seaman, above, is the key man of the San Francisco strike. He rose suddenly to chairmanship of the joint strike committee of maritime workers, and his forceful leadership has indirectly extended to members of many other unions who are supporting the strike.

Rites Held Monday For John J. Nolan

The following item appeared in Friday's issue of the Vidette-Messenger, Valparaiso, Indiana, concerning the death of John J. Nolan, a former resident of this city:

John J. Nolan, age 64 years, well known Valparaiso railroad man, died Thursday evening at 11:15 o'clock, at his home, 501 Beech street, following an illness of two years.

Memorial rites were held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Paul's Roman Catholic church, and were largely attended.

Rev. Father John A. Sullivan, pastor of St. Paul's church, preached the sermon, and Rev. Father F. Paul Nolan, of Chicago, a nephew of the deceased, celebrated the requiem high mass.

A large representation of Grand Trunk railroad men, many of whom had worked with Mr. Nolan, attended the rites.

Mr. Nolan was born in King's county, Ireland, on August 26, 1870, and came to the United States when thirteen years of age. Previous to taking employment with the Grand Trunk Western railroad thirty-five years ago, Mr. Nolan was employed by the Chicago & Alton and Illinois Central railroads.

After thirty-four years with the Grand Trunk Western as supervisor of tracks, Mr. Nolan was retired about a year ago on pension because of illness. Forty thirty-two years he had resided in Valparaiso.

On June 15, 1932, he was married.

DEVASTATING HEAT, DROUGHT SWEEPING OVER SOUTHWEST

New Records Established at Numerous Points in Four States

Kansas City, July 19.—(AP)—Devastating heat and drought scourged the furnace-like southwest without a let-up today.

Temperatures surged again far over the century mark in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

New records were established at numerous points in the vast sun-baked, water-furished area which rapidly is becoming a desert.

The weather map held nothing of promise for a good rain or an end to the killing heat.

At least half a dozen deaths were added to the human toll. A reading of 114 degrees, the highest on record, was reported at Mexico, Mo. The mercury boiled up to 111 1/2 at Jefferson City, 111 at Hannibal, and 109 in Kansas City.

At Parsons, Kas., the mercury touched 111, the sixth consecutive day of 110 degree weather or higher. Topeka, Kas., experienced a maximum of 109, the tenth consecutive day over 105 degrees and the 25th day this summer that the mercury had gone to century heights.

Readings in Oklahoma today included: Nowata 115, Bartlesville 112, Tulsa 110, Miami 109 and Ada 108.

In Texas there was a repetition of yesterday's high marks which ranged up to 107.

The all-time heat record for Iowa set at Sigourney 33 years ago was equalled by an official temperature of 113 today at Knoxville.

It was 96 in Chicago, and 88 in Duluth.

HEAT VICTIMS

St. Paul, July 19.—(AP)—Three deaths attributed to the heat were reported in Minnesota today as the mercury soared over the century mark in many sections of the state.

Rain and hail lowered temperatures early tonight in the Twin Cities region, causing some damage to crops.

Austin reported the highest temperature in the state, 102, while La Crosse, Wis., had 104. Sioux City, Iowa, 107. North and South Dakota had somewhat cooler weather today, the readings running between 90 and 96, as compared to temperatures in excess of 100 yesterday.

Waverly visitors in the local community yesterday included Miss Augusta Lacey.

VISIT IN SPRINGFIELD

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. DeWitt and Mr. and Mrs. Al Curry were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burrows, of Springfield last night.

Lockner insisted Chairman Williams had agreed to meet the entire delegation. Williams insisted he had not.

Finally Williams demanded: "Either testify or get out."

Harry Kirsch, assistant sergeant-at-arms of the house of representatives, took Lockner's arm. Outside, the communist's friends refused to leave. Kirsch and two pursuing policemen herded them—men and women—into a freight elevator and they decended still shouting:

"We've got evidence of graft! The people will hear of this!"

Reynolds' testimony about relief expenses was given in the morning session. Nettled by the committee's claims that the commission had not been thrifty, and by the statement of a federal relief official that relief cost of about 7 percent, Reynolds told the legislators that the present relief set-up is based on a careful study of the state's needs.

In answer to questions from Rep. C. C. Chenoweth, (Rep.) Decatur, and Sen. Wilbur H. Hickman, (Dem.) Paris, Reynolds said case workers were selected "for personality, on the basis of education, and common sense."

"In my country I take a dignified attitude," said Sen. Williams. "We don't want that," said the state director.

An incorporated society of relief clients, the American Workers Equity association, sent one delegation before the committee, carrying resolutions on its own letter-head. Representatives of the Illinois welfare organization, headed by Leonard Hilliker of Calumet came in with a resolution calling case workers "a bunch of educated liars."

From these and other witnesses, the legislators heard complaints that stores sell relief clients inferior food, not fit, said a spokesman, "for people of our class."

Isaac Yngst, speaking for the Small Home and Landowners' association, complained that the relief workers are not paying rent on property occupied by relief clients. The committee was told by Yngst that he had been arrested in a Chicago communist demonstration.

HEAT CONTINUES TO HOLD ILLINOIS

Des Moines, July 19.—(AP)—A blazing sun fired Iowa's mercury to 113 degrees today, equalling the all-time heat record set 33 years ago at Sigourney. The 113 degree official temperature today was recorded at Knoxville.

The Knoxville recording at 3:00 P. M., top for the state, was followed closely by Des Moines and Mt. Airy with 110 degrees, Lamoni 109 degrees, and Keokuk and Council Bluffs 108 degrees.

The torrid sun shriveled corn in southwest Iowa. Pavement in the state's cities were softened by the boiling temperatures.

The situation was particularly critical in southwest Iowa, where two cities virtually have exhausted their water supplies. Creston has been hauling water from Council Bluffs and Chariton today feared its supply would be completely exhausted soon.

LYNNVILLE SOCIETY
AT COMBES HOME

The Ladies' Aid society of the Lynnville Christian church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Annie Combes for the June meeting.

Mrs. A. W. Jewsbury, president, presided over the business session.

The meeting was opened by singing the Aid song. Scripture lesson was found in the 24th chapter of Matthew.

Seventeen members responded to roll call by giving a Historical event. Two visitors, Mrs. Ted Rutherford of Ebenezer and Miss Aileen Nunes of Chicago, were present.

A paper entitled "Tokens of Liberty" was read by Mrs. Sallie Heaton. A song, "America," was given by the group, and a poem, "Go in the Shade," by Miss Thelma Allen.

spots in Olson's position by agreeing to take orders from him. National guardsmen, posted by Langer in an effort to maintain himself in office, were withdrawn by Olson as one of his first acts in office.

Olson immediately ordered them out again however, as a precaution against violence. Saries has emphasized the prevention of disorder is his principal object.

In the house 61 of the 113 elected members answered the roll call. In the senate only 19 of the 49 elected were present. Both assemblies adjourned to tomorrow after brief sessions.

The right of the legislature to meet in the face of a proclamation by Olson revoking Langer's special call was questioned by some members who came here and refused to participate in the deliberations.

The sergeants-at-arms of the assemblies were instructed to advise absent members to attend.

Olson sat in his executive offices ignoring the special assemblies. He had posted his revocation proclamation on the doors of the two houses.

CHAPIN CHRISTIAN CHURCH NOTES

The drought and hot weather are having effect upon attendance at the evening services of the church, but we are glad to report a good attendance at morning services.

There will be gospel services both morning and evening, Sunday, July 22nd. While the church gets hot thru the day, please remember it is the coolest place in the community in the forenoon.

There have been some symptoms of "ecclesiophobia" in Chapin, during this heat-wave, but we trust this may not prove serious. There is a tendency on the part of those afflicted, to go anywhere but to church.

110 PEOPLE IN MOVIES GET MORE SALARY THAN FDR

Rosenblatt said "no salary is too excessive if the picture produced by the individual receiving the salary meets with unusual public favor as a result of unique direction or artistry," but added:

"One general indication of the contribution which salary payments make to the maladjustment of production costs is found in the failure of management to adjust salary ranges of executives or artists to changed earning capacity of the various companies in the industry."

Rosenblatt blamed this condition on trade practices in the production division of the industry. He stressed too; namely, unfair competition in bidding for talent and the "star" system by which the values created by producers are turned against them through the necessity of paying excessive wages. He added:

"The competition of one producer against another for services of stars through the medium of offering increased competition upon the termination of existing contracts, especially when such offer is made prior to the expiration date of contract, tends not only to force salary scales to excessive heights but tends as well to depress the quality of film entertainment offered by the public."

"Most of the major producers have made decided efforts to correct the abuses resulting from excessive production costs. Acting individually and without the aid of any centralized machinery, however, their efforts have been ineffective."

Water Shortage
IS FORESTALLED

Kohler, Wis., July 19.—(AP)—An impending water shortage in Kohler village was forestalled late today when a committee representing strikers in former Gov. Walter J. Kohler's plant agreed to permit coal cars through the picket lines for the Kohler Company's power plant, which furnishes the village with water power for fire protection and domestic purposes.

The compromise was reached thru efforts of the Rev. J. W. Maguire, Kankakee, Ill., mediator for the Chicago regional labor board, shortly after the company announced its dwindling coal supply threatened to leave the village without water inside of two or three days.

Father Maguire announced the strike committee will permit one carload of fuel through the blockade "every two or three days" or enough to maintain the plant and village water systems, and that former governor Kohler stipulated he will not use the supplies for production purposes or for building a coal reserve.

The mediator expressed himself still hopeful tonight of a settlement of the strike, in which Union No. 1845, American Federation of Labor, is asking its recognition as bargaining agent, shorter hours and increased pay for common labor.

WAR VETERANS
LEAVE TO JOIN
STATE CCC CAMP

Five World War veterans left here yesterday for Peoria where they will undergo physical examinations as a preliminary step toward entering a Civilian Conservation Corps camp. The former service men will be sent to a camp in Illinois if they are successful in passing the physical examinations. The group included James Edwards, Pearl Brown, Rex Gilliland, Paul Edwards and Thomas Israel.

Another quota of World War veterans will be assigned to camp in October. Applications for the camp may be made now at the local Red Cross offices.

Bethel Homecoming has been set for Aug. 19. There will be a basket dinner and addresses by former pastors and others.

Mrs. O. F. Jones and daughter, Miss Bernadine, visited friends in Greenfield a few days last week.

There was a fine attendance at the union church services last Sunday, many coming and sitting in their cars throughout the services.

John Ernest Metcalf of Greenfield visited Paul and Philip Jones Monday and Tuesday of this week.

MORGAN CO. STEERS
BRING $7.00 CWT.

An outstanding sale of steers at the National Stock Yards was made by Mrs. Nora Bartelheim of Chapin, when her cattle brought $7.00 cwt, July 18th, according to reports. Her steers weighed 910 lbs. on the average and 17 head brought the $7.00 cwt. figure. Three weighing only 780 lbs. were sold at $6.00 cwt. They were good but their lack of weight accounted for the difference.

Lord Snowden Out After MacDonald; Once Were Allies

Takes Advantage of Premier's Absence in Provinces

London, July 19.—(P)—Viscount Snowden of Ickernshaw, former chief collaborator with Ramsay MacDonald but now probably the most bitter foe of the prime minister in England, has jumped back into the political arena with a bang.

Some political quarters see the 70-year-old Lord Snowden limiting his return with an element of strategy.

He could see no sunshine in Britain with MacDonald in Downing Street these past two years, but now that the premier is taking an extended vacation, it appears Lord Snowden is determined to make hay.

His activities may prove damaging to MacDonald, who was to land today in Canada. It was doubtful that a single important political leader would step to the rostrum to defend the absent prime minister from personal attacks.

Aims at MacDonald
Most assaults on the national government would be answered, of course, but Lord Snowden has already demonstrated that he is aiming at MacDonald alone. He is as frank as he is blunt about it.

The former chancellor of the exchequer led the Socialist group which bolted from the Nationalist government two years ago and branded Mac-Donald a "deserter" for continuing with the conservatives.

Launching his return to politics, Lord Snowden assailed MacDonald as a "Tory instrument" and a "man whose vanity, weakness and incoherence will be the nation's undoing."

"Look here, Mary Faith, I'm not going to sit here and argue the fine points of the marriage service with you," said Kim, dismissing his marriage vows with a wave of his hand.

"I came here to ask you to divorce
me. I don't care about you the way
I did, and you seem to be getting along fairly well without me. You have my mother on your side . . ."

"You talk as if I were your enemy, and I'm not," Mary Faith interrupted him quietly. "I love you, Kim, and I'm not going to give you up to that Janet-woman without a struggle."

Last year when you came to me and told me you couldn't live without her I gave you up—and three months later you married me. Now you want to give me up, and marry her, I suppose. . . . But I think you ought to wait a while and find out how you really feel about her and about me.

Time can settle a lot of things that nothing else on earth can settle, Kim."

He lost his temper then. "You talk like a fool," he said, furious with anger. "You talk to me as if I were a child that didn't know its own mind. Now see here, I'm going through with this thing."

"All right," Mary Faith broke in upon him once more. "You'll have to do it, Kim. I care for you too much to give you up, and besides, I know you'll not be happy with that girl. You don't love her. . . . You just think that you do because she follows you around and it flatters you to have her do it. If you really loved her the way you think you do you would have married her 'way last fall when you were as free as air, Kim Farrell!"

She got up and started out of the room, and he looked after her, wondering how a creature so yielding and gentle by nature, could be so stubborn and determined all at once.

At the door she turned and faced him once more.

"If you feel like this about her in six months I'll listen to you, Kim,"
she said.

"If you feel like this about her in six months I'll listen to you, Kim,"
she said.

"If you feel like this about her in six months I'll listen to you, Kim,"
she said.

"If you feel like this about her in six months I'll listen to you, Kim,"
she said.

"If you feel like this about her in six months I'll listen to you, Kim,"
she said.

"If you feel like this about her in six months I'll listen to you, Kim,"
she said.

"If you feel like this about her in six months I'll listen to you, Kim,"
she said.

"MARY FAITH" by Beatrice Burton

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Mary Faith, comely young orphan, is secretary to Mark Nesbit, wealthy business man. She gives up her position to marry Kimberley Farrell, shiftless young lawyer. Mary Faith believes that loving a man hard enough will make everything come out all right in the end. It was this confidence that enabled her to marry Kim after he had once broken their engagement. She realizes he has an eye for every girl, but hopes that married life will sober him and make him successful in his profession. Instead, Kim is annoyed at Mary Faith's "Puritanism," and his jazy friends, Claire and Jack Maldon, find her a dull companion. Learning that she is to become a mother, Mary Faith, for the first time, visits Kim's office. Kim is furious when Mary Faith finds him flirting with his blond secretary. That night, he informs his mother and Mary Faith that he is leaving. Mary Faith, heartbroken at this turn of affairs, decides not to tell Kim of her coming motherhood. She and Mrs. Farrell decide to struggle to keep the home for the coming baby. Mary Faith obtains a position as typist. Due to Mary Faith making good Kim's debt to his former employers, Kim is reinstated.

CHAPTER XXVI

"And are you going to stay here now, Kimberley?" his mother asked him.

"No." His lips came together with a snap. "No—I'm more sure than ever that it was a mistake for Mary Faith and me to be married. I came here tonight because I wanted to talk to her about divorcing me. It's not right for us to be tied up to each other when we've stopped caring for each other. You feel that way about it yourself, don't you, Mary Faith?"

Mary Faith sat in rigid agony on the very edge of her chair, her hands clamped tightly in her lap.

Her dark blue eyes were very big in her white face and there were faint shadows under them. Her lips scarcely moved as she spoke.

"I don't know, Kim."

"You don't know?" He was exasperated. "What do you mean, you don't know?"

"Well, I don't believe in divorce, Kim. And don't you remember what we promised each other the day we were married?—To live together all our lives."

"Look here, Mary Faith, I'm not going to sit here and argue the fine
points of the marriage service with
you," said Kim, dismissing his marriage vows with a wave of his hand.

"I came here to ask you to divorce
me. I don't care about you the way
I did, and you seem to be getting along fairly well without me. You have my mother on your side . . ."

"You talk as if I were your enemy,

Move Victims Of Accident to Chandlerville

Five Persons Meet Death En Route To Chicago

Chandlerville, July 19.—The bodies of five Chandlerville persons killed in an automobile accident near Bloomington early this morning were brought here today for funeral services and interment. The fatality which occurred when the victim's automobile in which they were riding crashed into a truck near Gridley, 20 miles north of Bloomington, resulted in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Vaughn, both 56; Chalmers Armstrong, 48; Mrs. Chalmers Armstrong, 44, and Mrs. Armstrong's daughter, by a former marriage, Doris May French, 14. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn, Mrs. Armstrong and Miss French were dead when taken out of the wreckage of their sedan. Armstrong died two hours later at St. Joseph's hospital here.

The two families had left Chandlerville early in the morning. Shortly after 5 a. m., four miles west of Gridley, they met a truck driven by Dale Fisher of Springfield.

Fisher said as the sedan was about to pass it swerved, struck his truck a glancing blow just back of the cab and crashed off the road into a ditch. The passenger car did not overturn. Fisher and his assistant, Henry Hamilton, also of Springfield, called state highway police and assisted in removing the bodies of the four who met instant death. Armstrong was taken to the hospital here, but died shortly afterwards.

Physicians said all five had suffered fractured skulls, the cause of their deaths.

Neither of the occupants of the truck was injured. The truck, the property of E. M. James & Son of Springfield, Ill., was a flat bottom type loaded with brick.

Vaughan was a building contractor at Chandlerville, where Armstrong was an electrician. The latter's brother is postmaster of the town, which is about thirty-five miles northwest of Springfield.

Shock to Friends.
The village of Chandlerville was shocked with the sickening news of the death of the five persons, members of the Vaughn and Armstrong families who are well known in Chandlerville and community.

First word of the accident was received by A. L. Lintner, funeral director, who got in touch with several relatives. Mr. Lintner and assistants left with an ambulance to take charge of the bodies.

The Vaughns lived on North Main street, and the Armstrongs on South Main street. They had been planning a trip to Chicago for several days, leaving early this morning for a visit to the fair.

Mr. Vaughn was for many years a contractor and carpenter here. Mr. Armstrong was employed as a salesman.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn are survived by five sons and one daughter; Addison, Eugene, Orville, Damas, Gilbert, and Lora Vaughn.

Mr. Armstrong has one son, Wayne, and Mrs. Armstrong had one daughter, Doris May French, who died in the tragedy. She would have entered high school this fall.

SINCLAIR COUNTRY CLUB HOLDS MEET

Mrs. Robert Barnes delightfully entertained the Sinclair Country Club at her home Wednesday afternoon with a large attendance of members and guests present, Mrs. Mae Hunt, the president, presiding.

The following were chosen at the election:

President—Mrs. U. B. Fox.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. John Moore.
Secy.—Mrs. Robert Hopper.

The program for the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. U. R. McClure and Mrs. Lester Martin and was as follows:

Contest—Mrs. Clyde Martin's group winning the prize.

Group of songs—Miss Rhoda Olds, accompanied by Miss Mary Torrey.
Talk—Child Development, Dr. Stewart of MacMurray College.

Piano solo—Miss Torrey.

The club adjourned to meet Sept. 12 with Mrs. E. E. Hart. During the social hour refreshments were served.

Emporium to Show Fall Line of Coats and Suits Saturday

The Emporium will make an advance showing Saturday of fall suits and coats of the famous Printzess line. A representative of the Printzess company will be in the department and special orders will be taken for fall delivery.

Many women are expected to take advantage of this opportunity to select exclusive models for the coming fall season. Adv.

END VISIT HERE

Mr. and Mrs. George Crawford and sons of Haddon, Iowa, returned to their home Tuesday after a visit with Mrs. W. H. Crawford of 210 North Prairie street. They were accompanied home by the Misses Ruth and Gertrude Crawford, who plan to spend their vacation there.

SHILOH AID SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

The Shiloh Ladies' Aid society held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Will Lindsay Thursday afternoon with 10 members and one guest, Mrs. Oris Lindsay, present.

The meeting opened with a song, "More about Jesus." Roll call was answered by "Ways by which to make our Aid a better Aid."

The meeting closed by singing "Sweeter as the Years Go By." After the meeting the hostess served cooling refreshments. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ed. Denton, Aug. 16.

Heat Record Is Established In Scott County

Winchester Swelters; Corn Crop Is Damaged

Winchester, Ill., July 19.—Today was probably one of the hottest days on record in the city of Winchester. The thermometer on the public square ranged from 108 to 112 degrees in the shade. While there is no official information available this is thought to be a record for high temperatures in this city.

The intense heat seems to be a death knell for the suffering corn crops of this community. Today finished four weeks of intensely hot weather without a rain of any consequence.

The crowd at the Baptist Burgo Picnic seemed to relish the steaming Burgo Soup despite the heat. Seventy-five dollars worth of soup was sold to people who took the soup home in buckets before 12:00 o'clock this noon. A large crowd attended the Horse Show under the management of Geo. J. Peak this morning. Following the horse show the crowd passed into the pavilion to partake of the famous burgo soup and fried chicken.

There were many entries in the dog show on the picnic grounds at 1:30. H. C. Montgomery and Miss Virginia Hains further acted as judges for this event. Following the dog show there were various competitive events including: running high jumping, standing high jumping, 100 yard dash, roller skating, scooter race, and a junior bathing beauty contest for children under the age of 6 years.

In the evening a varied program of music and speaking was presented. The Hawaiian String Orchestra, The Rawlins Family, Ned Donahue the Magician and The Hill Billy Comedy Team were high lights of the evening's program. The address of the evening was furnished by Judge Hutchinson of Springfield.

Excavate Basement of School

Sixteen men have been employed during the past week in excavating the south rooms of the basement of the Grade School Building in Winchester. The work is part of the relief program of Scott County. The workmen are paid out of funds from the Illinois Emergency Relief, with the exception of Samuel French who is the foreman in charge and is under the employ of the Board of Education. The additional rooms will be used as recreation and play rooms for the pupils of the school and will fill a much wanted need, particularly when weather conditions make it impossible for the pupils of the school to play out of doors.

News Notes

Mrs. Leile Mann and daughter Jean drove to Kampsville yesterday for Mrs. Robt. Evans and Dick Mann who have been visiting Mrs. Evans' daughter, Mrs. Harry Pidcock.

Mrs. Jesse Fuller is a patient at Our Saviors Hospital where she is receiving medical treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson Devine of Pueblo, Colorado visited relatives here yesterday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Coultas of Springfield attended the Baptist Burgo Picnic here today.

Mrs. R. E. Hedrick of Perry, Illinois and sister, Eleanor Loy of Effingham visited friends here yesterday evening.

Miss Madeline Thompson of Jacksonville is visiting her parents here.

SUMMER SCHOOL AT MACMURRAY TO CLOSE TODAY

The concluding session of the Summer School at MacMurray College will be held at 11:15 this morning in Music Hall. A very interesting program has been arranged. This will include a group of songs by Newton Boggs of Alton, who has been studying with the Juillard School in New York City for the past three years and has appeared this summer as a soloist with the Municipal Opera in St. Louis. Other musical selections will be given by Miss Freda Gurley, Isabella Craig and Miss Earhart Epling. Members of the summer school student body will make a brief address.

The summer session has been a most successful one in every way. One hundred and four students were registered, and much enthusiasm has been shown in the various courses offered.

FROM CHICAGO

Mrs. Rose Heaton, 302 West College avenue returned home last evening from Chicago where she has spent the past week visiting with her nephew, Edward Gray.

John Gray of Waverly was calling on friends in the city yesterday.

Storms Are Explained By Dr. Norbury

Two Kinds Occur Says Local Weather Observer

Dr. F. P. Norbury of the local weather bureau in response to several inquiries has prepared the following article concerning thunderstorms. Dr. Norbury explains thunderstorms as follows:

"There are two kinds of thunderstorms, the local or heat thunderstorm and the 'windshift' type. Both have certain physical characteristics in common, namely from a meteorological point of view the cumulo-nimbus cloud with all of its varied phenomena. In order therefore to understand the phenomena of the thunderstorm we need to be familiar somewhat with what is going on in the clouds above. First, let us consider the local shower and its causal factors."

"The local storm is generally confined to the late afternoon, early evening or near midnight following a day of oppressive humid heat. The heat represents the overheating of the surface air when the atmosphere is comparatively quiet. The atmosphere being humid (moist) provides sufficient moisture for cloud development in the lower regions of the atmosphere. The cloud formation is of the cumulus type. This is known as the 'wool pack' also the 'cauldron' cloud formation. It has a flat horizontal base with a domed summit. This formation is due to a column of vertically rising moist air. Out of this formation is developed the thunder cloud which is of the same shape but of larger scale and is also formed in a column of vertically rising air of greater extent."

The Rain Cloud

"Then follows the cumulo-nimbus cloud (the rain cloud) with its formidable towering thunder heads. The local thunder-storm may waver in any direction. For this reason a storm may come from the northeast or northwest. In this locality local thunder storms usually come from the southwest or west. The base of the cumulo-nimbus cloud is about one mile from the ground and the towering thunder heads may be five or six miles high."

"Humphreys says: 'rapid vertical convection of humid air is essential to the production of the cumulus cloud. The rapid convection is brought about by strong surface heating, especially in regions of light winds. The condition that the winds be light is one of the essentials for the formation of the local thunder storms, simply because winds, by thorough mixing of the air, prevent the formation of isolated rising columns. When the surface air (next to the ground) is moist heated, which is in the afternoon then convection (vertical rising of air) forms the formation of cumulus clouds. Hence, the reason for local thunder storms appearing in the late hours of the afternoon, or in the evening or later in the night. The possibility of a thunder storm happening may sometimes be heralded in the morning or early afternoon, by the appearance of white clouds, thin, with so-called 'mares' tail' strings of cloud, or not infrequently the white cloud is broken, having the so-called 'mackerel back' formation."

"Later, the first signs of the approach of a thunder storm are the thunderheads towering near the horizon, a gentle breeze is blowing toward the storm. This breeze is opposite to the direction of the storm's approach. As the storm draws near the wind suddenly shifts to a violent onrushing squall wind which seems to flow from a patch of blue black cloud in front of the 'cumulo-nimbus' (the rain cloud). This is called the 'squall cloud' and is responsible for the violence and destruction, such as we experienced in the storm of July 10th. Then almost immediately rain begins to fall, first in spattering drops. Then in increasing volume and may be accompanied by hail. Hail is usual in squall clouds, when these clouds are very black and turbulent and in the day time, are more noticeable, because they obscure the greater part of the sky. The squall wind and hail do not last very long. They soon die down, leaving the field to the thunder and lightning and heavy rain fall. After about half hour the rain changes to small drizzle and finally eases off into a light rain with a drizzle as the end of the chapter."

"The lightning is the great hazard, next to severe squall winds. It may continue for an hour. The average length of time of a heavy local shower is about one hour or more. Mild summer showers may last from fifteen minutes to a half hour."

Storm Life

"The life of a thunder storm is usually two hours. It is moving at the rate of 30 to 40 miles an hour and all of the time of its life it is operating out side ways."

"The 'wind shift line' thunder storms form a continuous line of hundreds of miles long across the country. Brooks says, 'they developed when the cool air from the west or north meets the hot, moist current which has been rendering the atmosphere trying to man and beast. The cool current usually strikes the side of the warm current like a wedge, either lifting the moisture bodily or entrapping it by entry above, then descending and violently forcing it aloft. Condensation takes place rapidly, resulting in disruptive electrical disturbances (so called electrical storm) and a heavy downpouring of rain.' This type of storm shows the anvil-shaped cloud, and is not infrequently accompanied by hail and wind squalls which are of such

Over 50 Journal-Courier Carriers In Contest To Attend Picnic On Sunday

Fifty or more boys and girls from the carrier forces of the Journal and Courier, from both the city of Jacksonville and the suburban territory, all participants in a subscription contest will be the guests of the Journal-Courier company at a picnic Sunday afternoon. The feature of the picnic will be the awarding of at least four trips to the Century of Progress in Chicago, with all expenses paid, for contestants.

A half dozen automobiles will leave Jacksonville Sunday noon to pick up the carriers from the suburban towns, transport them to the city and to Nichols park, where the program will begin. The group of suburban carriers will be augmented by the city carriers, about thirty in number, who will also assemble at the park.

Starting with contests and games as the choice of the guests, the activities will continue for several hours, and will include a swimming party for all who desire the freedom of the Nichols park pool. Then the presentation of the prizes, which aside from the world's fair trips, will include a number of merchandise awards.

Annual Picnic Morgan Gas Of B.P.W. Club Tax Is Used Held Thursday On Highways

Members Meet Last Night At Applebee Farm Secure Right-Of-Way For State Routes, Build Slab

Morgan county has spent its share of the gasoline taxes this year securing right of way for various state routes, and making all weather highways from the concrete slab to the county farm, from Woodson to Clemens Station and next week will begin another project for an all weather highway two miles east of Litterberry. The question of how the county was spending its share of the gasoline taxes came up during the debate as to how the city was to use its share.

Counties throughout the state are permitted to use the motor fuel tax for securing right of way for state routes, and to connect communities with all weather highways. Any other work done on the highways must be done with the regular road district taxes. Engineering fees for roads connecting communities also are deductible from the county's share of the motor fuel tax.

W. J. Castler, county superintendent of highways, yesterday pointed out what he had done with the county's share. The county has been receiving the motor fuel tax since 1927, and in 1929 received an even larger share of the tax. None of the money was used for road building purposes until 1931, when the county drew on its credit with the state highway department to construct a nine foot concrete road from Route 104 to Concord. The county plans to put in another nine feet along the same road later, thus making an 18 foot road. The county highway department also put in a mile of concrete on the Petersburg road northeast of the city.

Last year the county put in an all weather road from Murfreesville to Nortonville, 7.34 miles, grading, graveling and oiling the route. The county also graded and oiled a road two miles south of Nortonville to the county line, where it is expected that Greene county will hook on with a road leading to Scottville.

The county this year plans to put in 7.536 miles. The money which paid for grading and oiling an all weather road to the county line, 1.45 miles, for 4.11 miles of highway from Woodson to Clemens Station, and 1.97 miles east of Litterberry will be taken from the fuel tax.

Aside from paying for these projects, the tax was used to secure right of way for routes 100, 104 and 111. A large part of the fund was used up in this manner.

Miss Louise Clarkson of Murfreesville was a Thursday shopper here.

Miss Mary Norris, 608 North Fayette street will leave today for Chicago to visit with relatives and friends.

Witnesses to the ceremony were James Tribble and Mr. Roach, father of the bride.

Tar Foreman Is Burned; Paving Work Slowed

To Complete South Main Project Today

Robert Fletcher, tar foreman on the Hartman-Clark Construction company, which this morning will complete the South Main street paving, was painfully burned on his left arm yesterday afternoon as flames shot from one of the tar heating units and seared the flesh. His injury slowed up the work, which was scheduled to be finished last night, to such an extent that about 100 feet of paving remained to be covered with the final coat of asphalt before the project is finished.

Workmen will report at four o'clock this morning to complete the final bit of work, outside the cleaning. Difficulties arose during the last minute clean up work yesterday when the construction company refused to clean away the trees blown over the completed portion of the paving not opened to travel, and Emergency Relief workers refused to enter the street until ordered to do so by the city. The city street department is expected to take a large force of workmen onto the street some time today and clear away the debris.

South Main street, from the square to the city limits, will be opened for travel not later than Saturday morning, and possibly by Friday night, officials on the job said yesterday. The street would have been ready for use this morning if it had not been for the accident to the tar foreman. He was treated by a local physician and permitted to return to his place of residence here.

Fletcher was injured when one of the workmen turned on the jet in one of the heaters, while Fletcher was standing in front of the tar heating unit. When the jet lighted, flames shot out of the firebox, burning the flesh of Fletcher's left arm. The tar heating units are heated by the flames from the distillate fuel goes out unnoticed, it was said, and when it is lighted again, flames shoot out several feet.

The last of the bricks were dropped into place a few minutes past noon yesterday, as the hot weather slowed down the workers. Tar workers were left far behind as the brick layers hastened their job, and some fears were held for the safety of the pavement should a rain storm occur. No dirt is permitted to get in the cracks between the bricks from the time they are placed on their bed of asphalt until after the hot asphalt has been poured over the surface. Rains wash dirt into the cracks, and make it necessary to remove the bricks in place.

The laying of the bricks began on June 21, but there were many interruptions and considerable time was lost because of various difficulties. Considering the elapsed time, the bricklaying has been done in record fashion. The project has provided many days of work for a large number of men here. The completed project now gives the city an excellent driveway in from the south and construction of the pavement is such that it will remain in good condition for a long period of years.

CHANDLERVILLE MAN INJURED IN COAL MINE

Chandlerville, July 19.—(P)—J. H. Miller seriously injured Tuesday while doing some work at his coal mine, west of Chandlerville. While working with carbide in the mine, an explosion badly burned his face, head and neck. He was able to return to town in his own car and get treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doyle, Tucson, Arizona have arrived in the city to visit with Mr. Doyle's mother, Mrs. Hester Doyle on East College avenue.

City Swelters Under Torrid Sun; Heat To Continue Is Forecast

Record high temperature was established in heat stricken Jacksonville yesterday when the mercury soared to 109 degrees, and the weather forecast issued last night gives no promise of relief. The high mark of 109 exceeds all temperature readings at the Norbury Sanatorium bureau, the record until yesterday having been set on July 27 and 28, 1930, when a temperature of 107 degrees was registered. The forecast for today is continued warm.

The mercury in the Norbury thermometer stood at 103 at noon yesterday and continued its climb upward until 109 was reached. At seven o'clock last night the temperature had dropped to 100 degrees. The mean maximum temperature for the day was 100 and the mean minimum was 99 degrees. The barometer reading last night was 29.99.

Unbearable as the heat was it would have been more so had there not been a change in the humidity, said Dr. F. P. Norbury, who made the weather observations here yesterday. Yesterday morning the humidity was 68, but it dropped to 39 as the day advanced. Residents of the city seeking relief from the searing, scorching heat resorted to usage of electric fans, cold drinks and lighter clothing, but the hot waves defied all efforts at attempts to keep cool. Pedestrians who were forced to use the walks of the city were met by burning billows of warmth and motorists found the temperature just as severe.

Many local residents were prevented from getting their usual amount of sleep Wednesday night as the air failed to cool off after sunset and remained sultry as a storm threatened during most of the night. A slight shower which fell about midnight failed to bring any cooling breeze.

While this vicinity received a large amount of rainfall last week, neighboring counties have not fared so well. From Winchester westward into Pike county the water supply has become a serious problem, particularly in the Pittsfield vicinity. That section has had no good rain since June 21. Points south of Murfreesville are still in the grip of the drought. Near Jerseyville, farmers are having a most difficult time in getting sufficient water for their livestock.

Those areas which have not had recent rains report that the crops are practically ruined and damage is mounting daily. The dry, parched fields in many places have been set afire in some manner and are a constant threat of possible severe conflagrations. Many barns in Pike and Greene counties have been destroyed by fire during the past ten days and the lack of water has added greatly to the dangers of destruction in the drought areas.

In the Quincy vicinity, the drought is causing much distress and the congregations of churches are holding prayer services to end the drought. The drought might be ended, to the east in Sangamon county, and Cass county on the north, there have been recent rains, but the scorching heat of the past few days has rapidly taken up the moisture and more rainfall is needed.

Cry For Rain
The cry for rain went up again from the parched American grain belt yesterday as 109 degree heat streaked across a score of states and resulted in more than a dozen deaths.

From the southwest where century or better degree readings have been common for more than a week, came reports that at least a half dozen lives had been lost in the past few days. In Nebraska where crop destruction from July drought following the record breaking spring aridity has surpassed all previous marks, nine have died within the last week. Two died in New York City which sweltered in 88 degree heat, two more in the sunbaked south, and three fatalities were reported in Minnesota.

Will Continue Warm
With a weather bureau forecast for continued warmth, new highs continued to be recorded over a wide area. Hottest spot was Mexico, Mo., with a reading of 114 degrees but in Iowa a 33-year record was equaled when the mercury touched 113 at Knoxville. A score of cities and towns in the state of Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Illinois also reported 100-degree temperatures.

In Chicago it was 96 without a relieving breeze and with an excess humidity which intensified suffering. Many unofficial readings of 100 were reported. At Quincy, Ill., unofficial sun readings gave a maximum of 120 degrees with one prostration reported.

Forest fires assumed a menacing status in Massachusetts and other New England communities where no prospect of rain was offered. Water supplies, already depleted by an unprecedented lack of moisture through out the middle west became an acute problem in Nebraska. Falls City, a town of 5000 population, saw its source the Nemaha river, virtually shrivel up in the intense heat.

Corn Suffers
The grain growers, already badly hit by loss of wheat and small grain crops in the record breaking spring drought, saw their corn—last remaining money crop in many northern states—begin to suffer. In Nebraska, A. E. Anderson, state agricultural statistician, said one-half of the state's corn area, already had been damaged so badly that there would not even be satisfactory forage.

Concern extended to other corn states. In the southwest Tennessee farmers said vegetation would be seriously endangered unless the dry spell was ended soon.

Other high temperature readings: Parsons, Kansas, 111; the sixth day of 100 degree heat or better; Nowata, Okla., 115; Lincoln, Neb., 111; Grand Island, Neb., 113; Quincy, Ill., 107; Austin, Minn., 102; La Crosse, Wis., 104; Jacksonville, 109; Sioux City, Ia., 107, and Hannibal, Mo., 111.

South Dakota where Wednesday 100 degree heat was common was somewhat cooler with readings in the 90's.

Despite the heat in Illinois, the crops there had not yet suffered as in some other states, observers said, because of recent heavy rains.

ANGIER FUNERAL TO BE CONDUCTED THIS AFTERNOON

Other News Notes of Interest From Beardstown And Vicinity

Beardstown, July 19.—Funeral services for Mrs. Valetta Kettering Angier, wife of Charles A. Angier, will be held Friday afternoon at 2 p. m. from the late residence, 803 Jackson son, with the Rev. Mullen of the Methodist church of Orland Park, Ill., in charge.

Mrs. Angier was formerly superintendent of the Beardstown Schmitt Memorial hospital and acted in that capacity until her marriage to Charles A. Angier, October 2, 1933.

The deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kettering and was born near LeMotte, Illinois.

At the age of seventeen she began studying the profession of nursing at Wesley hospital in Chicago. Her work as a nurse and organizer of hospitals took her to many towns in the United States. She was successful in organization of hospitals in Mitchell, South Dakota, Hutchinson, Kansas, Hamilton, Ohio, and Beardstown, Illinois.

She remained as superintendent of the Beardstown hospital until her marriage to Mr. Angier, October, 1933.

She is survived by her husband, two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Ludwig of LeMotte, Ill., and Mrs. David Allen of Orland Park, Ill., and four brothers, old Kettering, all of Melete, South-east, Clarence, Lloyd, Elmer and Har-dakota.

Three brothers had preceded her in death. They were Maurice Kettering of Orland Park, John of Melete, South Dakota, and her twin brother, Leslie. Her parents also preceded her.

News Notes.
The Piney Woods Giant Collegiate team is scheduled to play Mac's Clothing Co. Beardstown, a return game Friday at 4:30 at Sportsman's park.

The Collegians played Beardstown earlier this year and defeated them 8 to 6. Local fans are anxious to see the forthcoming game which the Collegians will play on their route south to see whether the scores can be reversed.

No game has been scheduled for Mac's Clothing Sunday, but Manager Gus Campbell reports that he is attempting to schedule a game with the Memphis Red Sox.

Miss Marie Duffelmeyer of Springfield is enjoying a vacation here on her duties with the C. I. P. S. company of that city. She plans to visit the World's Fair in company of Miss Marie Ackerman and Miss Effie Bockemeyer of Beardstown. Her vacation plans also include a visit to Quincy and a trip to St. Louis to attend the municipal opera there.

As a result of the city council meeting Tuesday night Beardstown will have four new city tennis courts, two near the local high school, one at the end of Fourth street, and one on the east side of town. The building and grounds committee were given power to act and work has been started on the projects for the courts.

The city council through the above committee also plans to put the dredge ditch south of town into good shape to accommodate children and adults. Two dressing rooms are expected to be built and an adequate parking space made.

Many Beardstown people have been using the ditch already. They report home, flowing water and a sandy beach.

Alderman McKenzie made the proposal for providing recreational facilities for the low-income people and the entire council and Mayor Condit approved.

SURPRISE PARTY
J. E. Cox of northeast of the city was pleasantly surprised last night when a group of friends and neighbors gathered at his home in honor of his birthday bringing freezers of home made ice cream and cake. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ferreira and son, Howard, Mrs. Mary Ferreira, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moody, Mr. and Mrs. Lora Moody and son, Karyn and daughter, Eleanor Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Russell McGee, Emily Jane Hymanen, Mr. Eula Tomka, Mrs. Belle Cox and Miss Lois Lane.

RETURNS HOME
Miss Marian Barton, 524 South Diamond street, has returned home after spending the past few days visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Valentine in Macon.

Island, Neb., 113; Quincy, Ill., 107; Austin, Minn., 102; La Crosse, Wis., 104; Jacksonville, 109; Sioux City, Ia., 107, and Hannibal, Mo., 111.
